

Do not drop the palm to require wireless number portability. It is necessary for meaningful competition. Without the option of portability the consumer is often locked into his current wireless provider.